An international organization devoted to the high ethical practices of Job Shops, whose members comprise the finest tumbling and vibratory finishing Job Shops in North America.

An Association with a voice which can be heard at national meetings, in technical groups, through advertisements, promotional literature and the like, whose logo is a symbol of excellence, pride in workmanship and quality of work.

An organization which meets once each year at national meetings for the purposes of exchanging ideas, news, developments, etc. of mutual interest, for the training of new people and for the mutual promotion of the Association.

I have read, understand and subscribe to the "AIMS AND GOALS" of the MASS FINISHING JOB SHOPS ASSOCIATION, presented above:

INITIAL

“CODE OF ETHICS” of the MASS FINISHING JOB SHOPS ASSOCIATION:

The MASS FINISHING JOB SHOPS ASSOCIATION has the long range goal of improving the image of the mass finishing job shop. More immediately, it is committed to upgrade the image and stature of the Association and of all of its Members.

To meet this commitment and to promote its continued growth and services, the Association has to depend on the mutual trust and confidence of and between its members. It believes that member-to-member contacts must be above reproach from every possible ethical and moral standpoint. One member cannot have a conversation, phone call, visit or other contact from another member and worry that the information gained by the other member will one day be used against him. This conviction is fundamental to the MFJSA and to all of its active members.

In order to support and protect these principles, the MASS FINISHING JOB SHOPS ASSOCIATION has adopted a procedure to handle potential infractions of this Code: Details from both sides will be submitted, in writing, to the Past-Chairmen Committee of the MFJSA and, only if considered appropriate by this Committee, the names and actions of offenders will be publicized and/or the offending member will be asked to resign his membership.

To indicate that I, My Company, and all of our appropriate employees are in agreement with and will support this “CODE OF ETHICS”, I have herewith affixed my signature:
